Lc 9/700

SLIDING AGENT

DESCRIPTION

The mold Lc 9/700 Sliding agent is used to remove resin from machine tables or work plates, thereby improving both the quality and service life of the machines. Due to the complete removal of resins, there are no impurities caused by sawdust, since the mold release agent achieves an excellent result in the smoothing effect. This makes the product particularly suitable for machine maintenance. Lc 9/700 Sliding agent is free of silicone, environment-friendly and does not contain any hazardous substances. It leaves no stains or discoloration. The pumps and hoses remain free of impurities. It also protects against corrosion and prevents the formation of moisture.

APPLICATION

The mold Lc 9/700 Sliding agent can be used automatically (pump) or manually and is applied with the help of a spray or brush. It should not be applied directly to the workpiece..

AREA OF APPLICATION

- For all machines where resin formation may occur.
